Why Tucson?

About one million residents call Tucson home — where lower cost of living meets a warm, small-town vibe and vibrant culture and food scenes.

WEATHER

Tucson experiences 286+ days of sunshine per year. It has beautiful weather in the fall, winter, and spring, and exciting thunderstorms during the summer monsoon months. Sunsets are a masterpiece to behold. Dry conditions allow for cool mornings and evenings, even during the hotter times of the year. No need to worry about earthquakes, hurricanes, or shoveling snow!

OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES

Tucson is surrounded by five mountain ranges, offering options for hiking, biking, and sight seeing. Mount Lemmon is a mere 45 minutes away, and it is usually 30 degrees cooler up in pine trees. Local options for being in nature include Sabino Canyon, Saguaro National Park, The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum, Reid Park Zoo, many golf courses, and the Tucson Loop Trail.

CULTURAL ATTRACTIONS

Tucson has a wealth of cultural actiivities. These include The Children's Museum, Tucson Museum of Art, Broadway in Tucson, and the Botanical Gardens. Tucson was the first city in the US to be labeled a Creative City of Gastronomy with emphasis on Mexican, Native American, and Sonoran foods.

SCHOOL OPTIONS

Tucson offers many educational options. Public school districts include: Tucson Unified, Vail, and Catalina Foothills. Charter schools options abound. There are options for private schools, too. The University of Arizona plays a major part in Arizona, and there is also Pima Community College.
